

Tarbut Lecture Series 2017

Presents

Daniel Lipson

“Where they burn books...”

The Holocaust and the Jewish Library

Daniel is an experienced reference and digital resource librarian at the National Library of Israel.

Developed since 1892, the National Library of Israel is a priceless treasure-house of Jewish thought, history and creativity throughout the ages with its millions of precious artefacts. Daniel Lipson will relate amazing journeys across the world, which enabled some of these precious books and manuscripts to escape the Holocaust and to reach the National Library.

Born in London, Daniel grew up in Petach Tikva and now lives in Bet Shemesh. He has an MA in Information Science and Librarianship from Bar Ilan as well as a BA in Land of Israel Studies.

8:00pm, Wednesday, January 10, 2018
